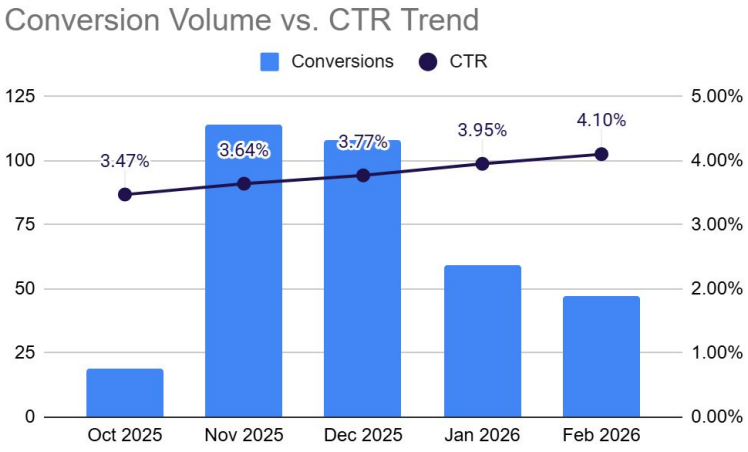
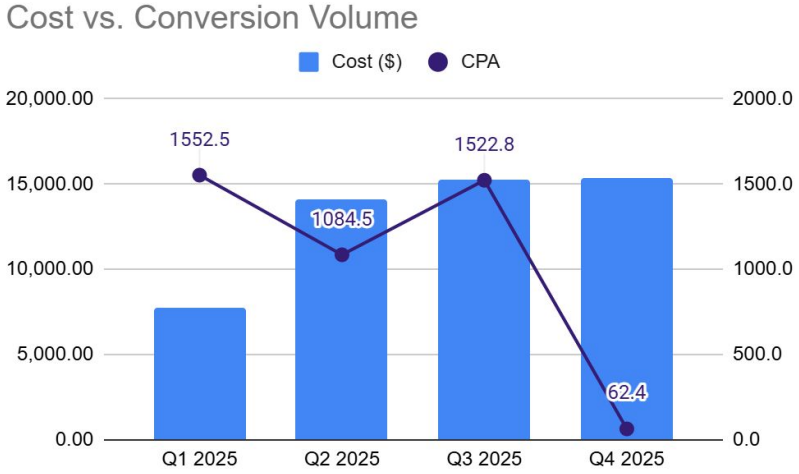
Monthly “Efficiency” Trend



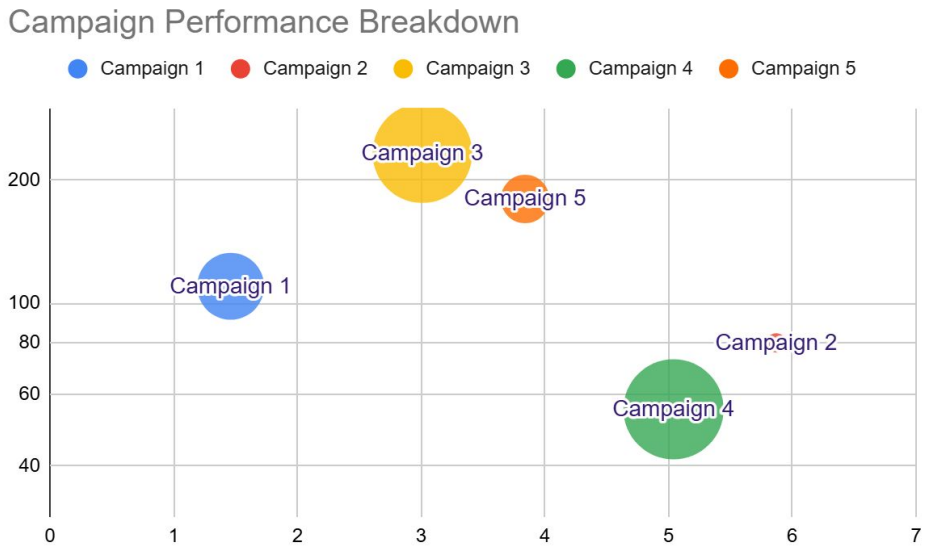
Our peak conversion period was late 2025. However, look at the Purple Line: even as we lowered our spend in February, our click-through rate continued to climb to 4.10%. This proves our ad creative is getting stronger and more relevant every month

Quarterly "Scale" Story



As we scaled our budget in Q4 (the tall bars), our efficiency improved dramatically. Our CPA (the line) dropped from over $1,500 in Q1 to just $62 in Q4. This proves that as we spend more, we are actually getting customers much cheaper than when we started.

Campaign Breakdown: The "Contribution" Map



The Efficiency Leader (Campaign 5): Despite having a mid-range budget, Campaign 5 is our most profitable "hidden gem," delivering 180 conversions at a remarkably low estimated CPA of $12.90, making it the primary candidate for a budget increase

The Volume Powerhouse (Campaign 3): Campaign 3 is our "Scale Hero," driving the highest total volume (233 conversions) while maintaining a high level of efficiency. It successfully balances a large impression share with a strong conversion output.

Engagement & Optimization (Campaign 1 vs. 4): Campaign 1 shows incredible creative resonance with a 13.25% CTR, while Campaign 4 represents an optimization opportunity—it has the highest spend but the highest cost-per-acquisition, suggesting we should reallocate some of its budget toward the higher-performing Campaign 5 or 3.
